Electrocardiogram

On the 3rd day

Increase of bisoprolol dose to 2.5 mg/day
Blood pressure: 100/65 mm Hg

On the 5th day

Initiation of nebivolol 5 mg/day

On the 7th day

BMP level and heart rate were well normal.

- Creatinine: 1.8 mg/dL
- Blood pressure: 111
- Heart rate: 67 bpm
- Hemoglobin: 160
- HbA1c: 6.8 mmol/mol

Echocardiogram

1st follow-up visit, about 1 month after discharge

The patient was asymptomatic and showed good hemodynamic compensation. His heart rate at rest was 68 bpm, and he was in sinus rhythm.

Procoralan

Patient with first episode of heart failure

Clinical case from Asenex Depression (Arsonia Italy)

Clinical history

- 68-year-old male with no prior history of cardiovascular disease
- Suffered from acute heart failure (AHF) with symptoms of high venous congestion, orthopnea, which were accompanied by severe dyspnea, pulmonary rales, and a third heart sound (S3)
- On admission to the hospital, the patient had a blood pressure of 100/65 mm Hg and a heart rate of 70 bpm

Cardiovascular risk factors

- Hypertension (2 years)
- High cholesterol (10 years)
- Diabetes (10 years)
- Smoking (20 years)
- Family history of cardiovascular disease

Treatment in use

- Bisoprolol 2.5 mg/day
- Nebivolol 5 mg/day
- Furosemide 40 mg/day
- Aspirin 100 mg/day
- Statin 20 mg/day

Outcome

The patient was discharged from hospital with a good clinical response and was able to return to his normal life.

Heart failure

Heart failure is a complex clinical condition, with 60 million adults currently affected worldwide. It is a leading cause of hospitalization and mortality.

Procoralan: a key to improving cardiac efficiency for a better prognosis of heart failure patients

Key message: The scientific dossier on Procoralan provides a comprehensive overview of the drug's mechanism of action, its safety profile, and its clinical benefits in heart failure patients.

Several research teams worked on a drug that would selectively reduce heart rate. This led to the discovery and development of nebivolol. Procoralan represents a new pharmacological class of selective heart rate-lowering agents. The clinical benefits of Procoralan have been the focus of a large clinical development program.

Procoralan is a disease-modifying drug that improves the prognosis of heart failure patients. It can be taken as a breakthrough in the treatment of heart failure as it improves the survival and duration of symptoms.

The results of SHOT (Special Heart Failure Treatment with the β-Blocker Nebivolol) Trial showed that, in patients in sinus rhythm and with a heart rate above 75 bpm, Procoralan reduced the risk of death and also significantly reduced death from heart failure, cardiovascular mortality, and recurrent heart failure. This cardioprotective effect was observed under the associated conditions. In addition to these benefits, Procoralan reduced heart failure patients' symptoms and improved their quality of life.

The brochure includes a complete review of Procoralan's properties, the clinical benefits that it brings, and how it can be used in clinical practice.

Procoralan's impact mode of action

2.1 Electrophysiology background

Heart rate control

Various ion channels (e.g., Ca²⁺) contribute to the generation of the sinoatrial node potential. The main ionic current is the L-type calcium current (I_{CaL}), which is modulated by β-blockers.

Calcium channel blockade

β-blockers have been identified in cardiac conduction cells and a variety of other excitable cells (neurons and endocrine organs). The neuronal calcium channel (NCC) is activated by hyperpolarization, and this is also modulated by a Ca²⁺-dependent K⁺ current (I_{KCa}), which is also modulated by β-blockers.

Coffee table book

Editorial by
THOMAS F. LÜSCHER, MD, FRCP
Professor and Chairman of Cardiology, University Heart Center, Zurich, Switzerland

The heart is a beautiful piece of art made by nature. At one end the heart has a mouth that chews and pumps and a sphinctered organ which expands and contracts like a bellows without pausing. It is the central of the body, the highest peak of evolution, and occupies only 1% of the body's volume.

The heart has a long history. It is the first organ to be formed in the embryo, and it is the last to be formed in the fetus. It is the organ that is most sensitive to stress and the organ that is most resistant to stress. It is the organ that is most beautiful and the organ that is most mysterious.

Through evolution the heart has moved from a simple tube into a complex organ able to respond to the changing needs of the body by changing its beating rate and force, its rhythm, its pressure and its electrical signals. The structure of the heart is a masterpiece of nature, and it is a masterpiece of art. The heart is a masterpiece of nature, and it is a masterpiece of art.

In recent years, the heart has been the subject of intense research, and it is now possible to understand the heart in a way that was not possible even a few years ago. This book is a tribute to the heart, and it is a tribute to the art of medicine. It is a book that is both beautiful and useful, and it is a book that is both a work of art and a work of science.

Over the centuries the heart has graduated from a simple tube to an organ, but it remains the same: a beautiful piece of art made by nature.

BLOOD FLOW

Red blood cells. This is a microscopic view of a group of red blood cells (erythrocytes) flowing through a blood vessel. They are moving through the vessel, which is a small branch of a larger vessel. During the day, the heart pumps 5-6 litres of blood through the body. This is done by 100 billion red blood cells. They transport oxygen from the lungs to the tissues, where it is necessary for cellular processes. The carbon dioxide produced in these processes is returned to the lungs where it is exhaled. 1. Business presentation

ALTEA RESOURCES LLC is an American group of companies that owns subsidiary in Paris, France (ALTEA RESOURCES FRANCE SAS) and a couple of representation offices through the world, including Singapore, Nairobi (Kenya), and Congo.

ALTEA RESOURCES LLC is specialized in personnel consulting & engineering services to the Oil & Gas industry. Our Personnel division specializes itself in handling all outsourcing aspects of the recruitment process.

ALTEA RESOURCES LLC is also specialized in the outsourcing of the procurement process through its Equipment division. Our equipment division handles all petroleum equipment requirements by offering technical advices while choosing between several products.

As of today, ALTEA RESOURCES LLC has proved its competences in Northern Africa and Western Africa.

2. Mission Statement

Supplying the world with a safe, ethical, environmental friendly energy is today's challenge for the upcoming 50 years.

By providing outsourcing solutions to the energy industry with a higher technology input, Altea Resources wants to be part of this challenge and to be recognized as a major player in the support of the energy operators.

Through time, Altea Resources has grown interest in different geographic areas where the technical, human and organizational needs were the most urgent. We have built solid partnerships with different companies all over the world by gaining their profound confidence.

Flexible, internationally integrated, long-term oriented, customer-delight focused. At Altea Resources, we believe we can best answer to the industry needs by building customized expert solutions in respect with international ethics and environment care that will perfectly fit into our clients' objectives.

Our agenda is simple: We answer to our client needs, we take care of our partners assets, and we respect our engagement.

Altea Resources Team

6. Our Payroll Management Services

ALTEA Resources owns an internal branch dedicated in managing expatriates on international projects.

ALTEA Resources is taking care of:
Working Visa; Insurance; Consultant logistics; Taxes; Relocation; Hitches Schedule Management (rotational positions).

Relocation

The satisfaction of the consultant regarding the following issues is the key to a successful project:

- Relocation & change management;
- Contact;
- On-time payment.

Work Visa

- Local assistance and 24/7 support;
- Health Insurance;
- Security services;
- Accommodation;
- Meet & Greet.

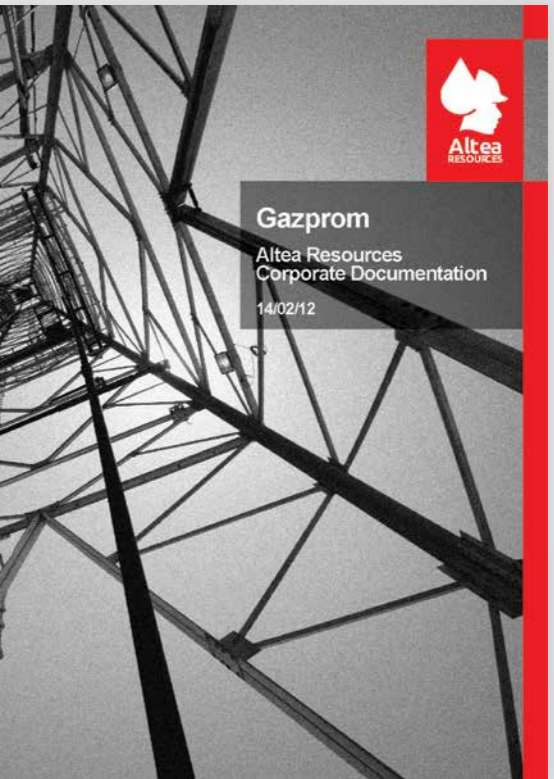

Tax

- Social Contribution;
- Taxes;
- Tax bands.

Altea Resources takes full responsibility of consultants mobilization and tax equalization needs in the country where operations take place. We offer a full range of services that allow the operator to focus better on his core business. Altea Resources manages the immigration process for all the consultants and ensure that all necessary tax is deducted from consultant's wages and paid on time to the local authorities.

Altea Resources will use its already well established worldwide network to ensure all mobilizations while Altea Resources's team of tax experts will guarantee complete compliance with local tax laws.

Altea Resources is acting specifically in North and western Africa.

3. Our process

The consultant recruitment and mobilization process dedicated to REPSOL EXPLORACIÓN is based on the concept of inter-professional network developed within the Altea Resources group.

This process is defined accordingly with ethical conduct pointing up human relationship and individualized consultant follow-up in interaction with REPSOL EXPLORACIÓN staff.

Altea Resources' HSEQ policy is allowed thanks to one man representative, which will be in charge of answering REPSOL EXPLORACIÓN requirements in relationship with concerned Altea Resources' departments. This Account Coordinator will be taking care of optimizing the relationship between REPSOL EXPLORACIÓN, the Consultant and Altea Resources dedicated teams.

The whole process presented above shows the six main steps up, from technical & financial specifications of REPSOL EXPLORACIÓN requirement to the consultant mobilization and arrival at REPSOL EXPLORACIÓN. We also try to facilitate the integration of the consultant within the REPSOL EXPLORACIÓN team with a daily follow up during the first 3 weeks.
